ADTS' Phil Moser Presents Driver Safety Session at American Society of Safety Engineers 2012 National Conference

JUNE 6, 2012 – Advanced Driver Training Services (ADTS) Vice President Phil Moser presented an educational driver safety session at Safety 2012, the national conference of the American Society of Safety Engineers (ASSE), June 3 – 6, 2012 in Denver, Colorado. This is the 11th consecutive year that Moser has served as a speaker on the agenda of the ASSE conference.

Moser led a session titled “The Magic 8 Ball of Driver Safety: Creating a Safe Workplace for Drivers,” which was held on Wednesday, June 6. The session reviewed the eight critical steps for organizations to follow in creating a safe work environment for drivers, recognizing that fleet vehicle crashes are the leading cause of workplace-related death in the U.S. Moser provided insights on how to handle high-risk drivers, recognize driving hazards and address unsafe driving behaviors, among other topics.

Moser is a regular guest speaker at industry conferences and meetings of trade organizations such as ASSE, the National Association of Fleet Administrators (NAFA), the Risk & Insurance Managers Society (RIMS), and the American Fleet Leasing Association (AFLA). A graduate of the Pennsylvania State Police Academy, he was an accident investigation and reconstruction specialist with the Lower Providence (PA) Police Department for 11 years before joining ADTS.

ADTS is a leading provider of driver safety training services and products that include a full-day Driver Skill Enhancement program (combining classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction), one-to-one training for high-risk drivers, seminars, post-incident coaching and other consulting services, online training, and the OnRoads bimonthly driver safety magazine.
